On Saturday we reproduced a report of th paper read by His Excellency Sir George Bowen at the Colonial Institute on "The Federation of the British Empire." The question just now, though one of great interest to many leading politicians, is to some extent in England overshadowed by that burning question of the bour, Home Rule for will move that steps be taken to put a stop to Ireland. The time is doubtless not yet ripe for Federation, but the tendency is decidedly in that direction, and mus turn in the direction of separation. All those who desire to see the numerous scattered portions of the British empire cohere, should use their influence to promote Federation. In most of the larger colonies branches of the Imperial Federation League have been founded, some of which are in a flourishing state, and working hard to secure the dissemination of their views. At Singaporseven a branch has been formed, which already counts over 150 members on its muster roll, a majority of whom are British born Chinese. A meeting of the members of the League was held in the Singapore Town Hall on the 16th instant under the presidency of it from Mesers.
